

Looking to the Future: Preparing for the Next Generation in Health Careers

Best Practices Survey

The University of New Mexico, in partnership with other stakeholders throughout the state, is holding a forum to address the challenges that New Mexico faces in educating, recruiting, retaining, and diversifying the pipeline of people in health careers. During the event you and your colleagues will focus on best practices and develop concrete recommendations for policymakers and leaders within the education and healthcare communities. To prepare for your participation, we ask that you record one of your own success stories by completing the following survey and bringing it with you to the forum.

Tables will also be available for you to display a poster exhibit about your success story, so we encourage you to bring a poster with you as well.

We can all learn and benefit from each other!
